District Court Sits

His Honour Judge Winter held a sitting of the District Court at the town hall on Tuesday.

J. A. Cammatt, of Strathmore, sued Otto P. Bremer, late of Strathmore, for $12.00 for feeding chopped oats to some cows Bremer had in Cammatt's place in the spring of 1920. Bremer counter claimed for supplying feed to Cammatt's stock out of the pasture and straw bought by him from Cammatt, but the judge dismissed the counter claim and gave judgment for the sum sued for.

Herbert Bohan, a farm hand, late of Strathmore, sued John A. Campbell, of Strathmore, for $375.00 due under an agreement made between the parties in November last, whereby Campbell leased his farm to Bohan. Judge Winter allowed the plaintiff $155.00 and costs.

Other two cases were disposed of.

Mr. T. M. Wears, Strathmore, sued Mr. A. L. Phillips, and Mr. J. O. Barron, Harbinger, Calgary, acted for J. A. Campbell and J. B. McEwen, Harbinger, Rockford, acted for another of the defendants.

School Reopens

Strathmore schools re-opened on Thursday last under the principalship of Mr. L. T. Williams. The five teachers engaged by the Board have now all arrived, and there is a prospect of a considerably larger enrolment of pupils than at any previous term. This applies especially to the high school.

A list of the results in the exams at end of late term will appear in next issue. The results have been held up some time, but will be available for publication this week. We understand they showed a very high record for Strathmore as compared with the average throughout the Province.

Additional Teacher on Staff
Yesterday the register at the school showed an attendance of one hundred and eighty, with quite a number of children who have been in to register. Fifty-three registered in the primary years. As there is not accommodation for this number, the Board has the alternative of sending a number home or of engaging another teacher. At a meeting held last night, they decided on the latter course, and later a deputation from the Board approached the Town Council and asked for financial assistance to secure another teacher and to furnish the sixth room. This was granted unanimously.

Red Cross Notes

Extensive preparations are being made at the Provincial Headquarters of the Red Cross in connection with the relief situation this fall. The Red Cross has already had a number of collections, and have given every one of the Red Cross in all cases, which is a great help to the committee.

The Red Cross took an active part in the Memorial services held in Calgary on Sunday. They arranged automobiles for all the Calgary hospitals and their members were also in attendance at the service in large numbers.

The unemployment situation is one of the major problems which the new Government is giving a good deal of attention these days. The Red Cross is doing its part in helping give information through these lines. Mrs. Waagen, Honorary Secretary, has attended two conferences in Edmonton at which this important subject was discussed.

The enthusiasm of members of the Junior Red Cross is to be noted in some districts that they have undertaken membership campaign among the seniors and are doing very well. With the opening of the schools their work will become very active.

Threshing in Full Swing

Grain Being Shipped
With continued dry and favorable weather, threshing continues in full swing.

The first load of wheat was hauled into the Bow Valley Strathmore by W. M. Schaeffer, on Saturday. It weighed 41 pounds to the bushel, and graded No. 1 Northern. Since then considerable amounts have come in to the elevators throughout the district. Ry shipments commenced two weeks ago, and the quality has been good.

The yield is not materializing as had been predicted in some cases, and while some are getting results over their estimates, the average wheat crop is not going to be within ten bushels per acre of last year's yield. Outside of the half-dozen wheat is turning out from 10 to 20 bushels per acre, with some favored spots, which benefited by extra rainfall, going higher. Straw is light, and the quality and weight of the grain is good. Irrigated crops will show a higher yield, but it is not threshed yet. Cutting, with the exception of late sown and some barley, is complete.

Slight frost occurred on two evenings last week affecting some garden stuff.

Fine Exhibits at Nightingale Show

The people of Nightingale district have reason to be proud of the remarkably successful exhibition of fruit, flowers, vegetables, etc., which was held on August 31 in Nightingale Hall.

The exhibition was a demonstration of the capabilities of the district for growing any variety of vegetables that can be raised in a temperate climate.

Special sections were devoted to berries and children's work.

Outside of the exhibits at the hall were the garden entries and some beautiful gardens, both irrigated and unirrigated, were included.

Mr. R. R. Stockton, judge of the gardens, and Messrs W. Vickery and L. Freeman the grain, vegetable, and flower exhibitors. The ladies and children's work exhibits were judged by Mrs. P. M. Dewitt and Mrs. F. O. Dewitt.

An auctioneers of unthreshed wheat was held following the show, at which a sum of $18.65 was realized, and this, together with five dozen eggs, was turned over to Strathmore Hospital.

Austin Rankin has also been in the hospital, where he underwent an operation on his throat.

Last Sunday week at 7:30 p.m. the large barn on the Shogabe farm, two miles north of town, was totally destroyed by fire. The lot had just been filled with new hay, and spontaneous combustion is believed to be the cause of the outbreak. A large crowd from the surrounding district turned out to save the other buildings from catching.

Owing to unforeseen causes there was no song service last Sunday week. The school would not have been large enough to hold the crowd in any case.

The Keoma School opened last Thursday, September 1st.

Mr. Hontoni has commenced erecting his new bungalow.

Mr. Towell has commenced the foundation for a substantial addition to his residence.

George Allomb has practically completed his large horse and cow barn.

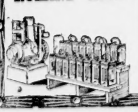

Last week the old pupils of the Keoma school assembled to give their teacher of 1918, Mrs. Rosewood, (nee Miss B. Slaven) a miscellaneous shower. A most enjoyable afternoon was spent by all and a nice lunch was provided.

Work of Alberta
Women

Synopsis of Proceedings of Women's Institute Convention.

The recent Convention of Women's Institutes held in Edmonton was a very interesting and instructive event.

Delegates from Strathmore Institute were Mrs. T. Philip and Mrs. L. B. Witt. Following are some extracts from the report of the Convention written by Mrs. Philip, and admitted to last meeting of the local institute.

What Institutes Are Doing

A few institutes had opened up new rooms, one institute put in a library of five hundred books.

Neighbourly relief had been provided, where necessary. Countries had been cleaned and put in order. Offering special prizes to school fairs.

One told of giving a prize to the girl under sixteen for the best knitted sweater.

Red Cross work was reported. One reported the organizing of a Town Musical Club, where only good music is heard; another giving donations to ward serving hot lunches in schools; another reported improving local conditions by putting up notices asking the men if they would refrain from smoking during picture shows.

A few ideas were gleaned from these reports which might be helpful for future programmes.

Taking up Canadian poets and authors, current events, putting on a play, two or three short papers on the given topic.

With discussions were held better than one long paper. A talk from the town lawyer on Municipal law would be prettier for the future.

He reported a dress-making class at the close of each meeting.

Impressions of trip taken by one member who had been so fortunate as to have had a trip.

A grandmother's day was reported. One institute had sold out of soap by relating her neighbors particular virtue.

One convener said that Institutes should plan to be a benefit and of service to the community. We should lead in establishing better conditions, visit the strangers, be interested in child welfare.

The Peace River constituency reported interesting their greatest drawback. The Institute was reported as doing great work in developing work. The Women's Institute is the best rural university and the women who are adding to their knowledge we look to for leaders.

A Saskatchewan View

Miss Abbie De Lury brought greetings from Saskatchewan Home-Makers. She was afraid we had let something pass out of our homes in passing on the responsibility for the shaping of character. We had left this too much to institutions. No other agency but the home could be really successful in this particular work; she emphasized the value of music and reading aloud in the homes.

Relations Between Farm and Town

Mrs. McKay reported for committee on agriculture, she recommended keeping, dairying and poultry raising. She said, "Just make farming fashionable and we will have no further trouble getting help." She also emphasized the necessity of co-operation between women of the country and women of the towns and cities. Discussion on this paper was ended very beautifully by Mrs. Rose Morgan, who said, "Let us hear no more one toward the other, we are first of all women. Let us love one another. Love will rebound shape and build up character in integrity of soul."

We had many prominent speakers and Mrs. Alfred Watt, President of B. C. Institutes, told us of her work in England organizing institutes. The demand for institutes arose out of the need for growing, saving and preserving food. The war record of our Canadian boys made it easier to get the movement under way in England at that time.

Conserving Health

Mrs. McLaughlin, of B. C., in her address, said the average child in the country was not as healthy as the child reared in the city. She based her statement on comparisons made from medical inspection of school children and on reports of over half a million children. This evoked much discussion.

Mrs. McClung, in bringing before her audience some of the places where definite advancement had been made, said the health of the family was always been the special business of the woman; we could all remember said the speaker, the days of our youth, when the mothers mixed with skill and administered with untiring regularity, the springtime dose of molasses and seltzer; she was looking after the health of the family then as she is yet when she goes out to get better public health measures for her community of which her family was a part.

Women were also interested in the schools, and she hoped the Institutes would extend their assistance to the school boards and teachers in the beautifying the little public schools and school gardens.

She also spoke of the minimum wage for girls is the greatest interest to women, as the question means so much to the girl away from home.

Boycott the Grey Dress

Mrs. McClung recommended that the Institutes stimulate the interest in the wearing of good looks, and also encourage the development of Canadian magazines. She did not wish to keep out the best American magazines, but she thought that this was no time to promote magazine which openly expressed a recognition that created bad feeling between the two greatest English speaking nations of the earth. She said only a small cent of the people are buyers of books.

Mrs. McClung told a little story which carries its own moral. "A little boy was wheeling a wheelbarrow up side down, and his mother asked him why he did that. He said, 'Silly mother, why if I wheel it right side up somebody would put something in it. I blessed are the barren barbers.'

Women's Rights

Mrs. Edmunds gave a most interesting address on the law affecting women and children in Alberta. She stated some of the progressive pieces of legislation Alberta possessed, such as: Equal Parental Rights, Subsequent Marriage of Parents of an Illegitimate Child, legalizing the child having the word 'illegitimate' eliminated from the birth certificate of illegitimate children; also rights of an adopted child the same as legitimate child; also no children could be abused by parents as the state had become the third parent.

Canadianization

The report of the Canadianization Committee was given by Mrs. Morley.

She said this was an educational process whereby the mind and heart were won. We cannot expect that new comers can crush out of their hearts, love for childhood homes, nor should we wish it, for the person who could do so could never love with depth the land of their adoption. Neither would we wish to see the pride of ancestry eliminated. We must remember that every race has something of value to contribute to our national life.

The first steps should be taken with the child in his own home, teach it to be kind, considerate and courteous, then it will not stare at foreigners.

Another step would be co-operation with the teachers in Canadianizing. There are three national events: Empire Day, Dominion Day and the Queen's Birthday. Interesting programs might be arranged, and costumes, ring with national song. Let it be gay with flags and bunting.

We shrug our shoulders at the childishness of the forefathers, but we all choose our home among peoples with whom we felt at unity. Institutes can do a great deal towards developing a spirit of friendliness in meeting places. Mrs. Rogers also spoke on this subject. She told us of the readiness of the forefathers to imitate our ways.

Resolutions Passed

Resolutions passed that the Women's Institute recommend to the Provincial Government the formation of an order of nursing home-keepers, these to be under the supervision of the department of public health, and the course to consist of five months in one school of agriculture on dieting, household administration, cooking, home nursing and a term of four months practical nursing in one of the municipal hospitals, and each graduate to receive a certificate of qualification.

A resolution was passed whereby the Women's Institute will undertake to collect and compile a record of Alberta's Pioneers, historic landmarks, legends, and stories peculiar to the province and put such in a permanent form. A committee was appointed to draft a plan for such a record.

Cutting Out the Fags

Another resolution was passed seeking to amend the law to raise the age at which tobacco may be procured by minors from sixteen to eighteen years of age.

A resolution was passed recommending that all schools be equipped with drinking fountains or individual drinking cups.

Miss Abbie De Lury, Saskatchewan suggested that we go back to the simple way of living and eating. Just one of two kinds—a food served. She also suggested to the ladies that a daily ten minutes rest period would be conducive to better health.

Work of the Institute

About 2000 women had attended the conference held by the different constituencies. 254 places were visited by lecturers. They have a Loan, Collection and Travelling Library in the form of bibles, sample programmes, reference books which can be furnished to any Institute.

31,450 letters had been sent out from the superintendents' office during the year, an increase of 5,000 over the previous year.

Relief had been distributed from December 4, 1918, to May 31, 1920, clothing for 2,529 people, and 601 families, and in addition 2,000 second hand clothing, a great many new garments had been distributed.

Among the many institute activities, none is more interesting and effective than the better rural school project. Half of the Institutes have in some way or other, done something for the school in their district.

Child Welfare and Public Health

In 1920 eleven Institutes were instrumental in obtaining a baby clinic at the time of their local fairs, and statistics put on exhibits on the proper feeding of children.

Study Programmes

For the benefit of Institute members the study programme plays the largest part.

All Institutes take a great interest in public affairs, and many have assisted in the establishing of Municipal Hospitals.

Town and district libraries have been started by several Institutes during 1920 with the project of adding books each year. One Institute held a book show.

Many Institutes have led in the revival of community singing in Alberta; also beautifying the home town has been the aim of numbers of Institutes in 1920.

Mrs. Melrose said the Institutes should be the organization through which town and country meet, and the Institute was of inestimable value to farm women in the means of advancing agriculture and country life.

Great emphasis was put on Home Life and Brotherhood, or Sisterhood might be better. Service on the Convention.

All delegates came home with a larger conception of life and of home and children.

Vancouver B.C.—An indication of the growing importance of this post in Pacific coast shipping is contained in the announcement that during the past eight years, the tonnage of the vessels using the port of Vancouver has increased from 1,400,000 to 2,200,000, and the number of regular foreign bound steamship lines from five to 26.

ADVERTISE!

One of the most persistent advertisers in the history of success was Robinson Crusoe. He knew what he wanted—a ship—and he put up an ad for one. He flung a shirt on a pole, at the top of his island; that, in the language of the sea, was plain to every sea-faring man.

"The circulation was small—there was no other medium—but Crusoe kept at it, despite the fact that he got no enquiries for a long time. He changed his copy—as one garment after another frayed out—and in the end he got what he wanted.

"Suppose Crusoe had taken down that signal after a time and declared 'Advertising doesn't pay.' Where would he be and his story be now?

"Put up your signal and keep it there. Crusoe advertised under very discouraging circumstances. You've got a sure thing—it is only necessary to have the patience, persistence, and pluck of Robinson Crusoe—and the good ship 'Better Business' will tie up 'longside your pier."

Still Describing Strathmore Visit

Eastern newspapers are still coming in to read with accounts of the visit of the weekly newspaper's special train party to Strathmore.

It is complimentary to our younger members of the fair sex to note that references to their prettiness is made in every item of account of the visit that has yet come to hand.

The latest write-up to reach us is from the "Examiner," Harris, Ontario, and is as follows:

When leaving Calgary, about 5 p.m., we were told that a short stop would be made at Strathmore to see a C.P.R. supply farm. Little did we anticipate the warmth of the welcome awaiting us there. As we drew up to the station we saw the school children massed on the platform, the station yard and street leading to it filled with cars and music to the town band greeted our ears. As we alighted the sweet young voices rang out in "O Canada" (incidentally, it should be stated that nowhere did we see such well behaved children), and a score of pretty maidens passed among the visitors with a generous supply of sandwiches to appease our appetites till we returned to the train. Mayor Butler, mounted on the front of a Ford, told us the place was ours, that the keys had been thrown into the lake. In a few minutes our party were speeding toward the farm in forty autos, mostly belonging to the villagers. This farm is operated by the Department of Natural Resources of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, and is known as the Demonstration or Supply Farm.

After giving a descriptive account of the party's visit to the Demonstration Farm the article concluded as follows:

All too quickly passed the time allotted for Strathmore and in ninety minutes we were again heading homeward. Of the many receptions and courtesies extended on our trip, there were none more whole hearted or more appreciated. The visit to this little C.P.R. town will long linger as one of the most enjoyable incidents of the journey.

Quite a number of drinks were arrested by the Town Constable during the past week.

Scotland's Population

LONDON, August 26.—The preliminary report of the Scottish census just issued shows that the population of Scotland has increased considerably since the last census was taken in 1911. Saving Seed For the 1922 Crop

(Experimental Farm Notes)

Seed requirements are a very important factor in a farmer's plan, especially recognized, both from the standpoint of the quantity required and the standard in quality. The farmer has well over 80,000 bushels of seed are required and not less than 2,000,000 bushels of seed are required for the 1922 crop. An important consideration and one which has been a tendency particularly during the period of high prices is to sell the best grain and keep increased seed.

Each year Canadian farmers enter a race competition in the wheat markets. It is important, therefore, that the high standards obtained in the earlier years of the 1910s be maintained. This can only be done by growing varieties that are of high yielding value and by keeping true varieties pure. In saving seed for the 1922 crop, the farmer must select the seed to be saved should be selected while the crop is standing. Impurities can be more easily recognized in the field than they can in the threshing machine. A commonly looked upon as a tedious undertaking but if the field does not contain too great a number of impurities it is not nearly the task it is generally imagined.

Having removed other kinds such as varieties of grain and harmful weeds, in the field the next step is to select the best seed. This is done by selecting the best seed in the field and by selecting the best seed in the field.

At threshing time the racks should be swept clean before hauling in the sheaves of seed grain. The threshing mill should also be swept out as well as cleaned out thoroughly as possible. This work requires surprisingly little time if done frequently for most of it can be done while the machine is in operation and without making any serious delay in threshing. It is as well to follow with a clean sack and vice versa, the first sack or two that comes through should be kept separate as well as the last baled that is threshed. Mixing in the bin frequently occurs in order to prevent this the bin should be carefully examined and all foreign matter removed and cracks stopped up. After the seed grain is put in the bin it should either be hoisted up to the ceiling or else the grain covered with a canvas of some description.

Careful attention to the matter of securing pure seed on the home farm will be amply repaid. There will be the usual increased yields that accompany the use of good Standard seed.

There will be the increase due to less loss from shattered and shrinkage of immature kernels, such as occurs in a mixed lot. And in addition the resultant crop will be less susceptible to disease.

M. J. TIMLINE,
Superintendent, Experimental Station, Scott, Sask.

LLOYD GEORGE AVERS
MINISTERS ARE BUSY
Premier Lloyd George, while at Barmsey, attending the wedding of his principal secretary, Sir William Rutherford, at Darton, said there never had been a time when ministers of the crown were as hard-worked. (Other countries solved the problem of working them in shifts which they changed pretty frequently.)

"Since I became premier," he said, "there have been seven premiers in France, six in Italy and nine in Germany. That is one way of showing your work, but in no country is the premier's life happy. State business are great worries, especially in times of excitement at home and abroad."

Duck shooting season opened on Thursday, September 1, and with the creek of dawn a multitude opened on the unsuspecting web-footed bipeds that continued with varying intensity through the whole day. Ducks were plentiful and good bags were obtained in the majority of cases. Besides local sportsmen, many Calgary men made their camping around near the sloughs in this vicinity.

Labor Day was observed as a general holiday on Monday, by stores and businesses, though threshing operations naturally carried on to take advantage of the good weather.

The important event of the day was the dance held in the Memorial Hall in the evening under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. A good crowd was in attendance, including a number of Calgary visitors, and a very enjoyable time was spent. Music was provided by the Gleichen Orchestra, while supper was served by the Ladies of the G.W.V.A. Auxiliary. The proceeds of the evening went to the benefit of the Memorial Hall Fund.

An exhibit of alfalfa seed shown by Mr. Douglas is something that has considerable potentialities. Up till last year it was thought impossible to mature alfalfa for seed purposes here, and seed was imported at high prices, and naturally without the vitality of seed grown at home. Last year one farmer threshed out 600 pounds of seed, and this year also a considerable quantity will be threshed. Brooks district has been advertised lately on the strength of raising alfalfa seed, and the culture of this useful forage crop will be greatly helped by a supply of home-grown seed.

Local Notings

OF LOCAL INTEREST
Readers are requested to send in items for this column not earlier than 12 o'clock Monday noon preceding day of publication. All local news items are welcomed by the Standard, Phone 17 or 68.

Strathmore Women's Institute request the presence of members of the Community Club, and of the public generally at the opening evening of the district convention, to welcome the visiting delegates, and to join in the programme of community singing, etc. We trust there will be a big turnout to the meeting, details of which are given on another column.

The golf bug has bitten quite a number of our citizens now and they are busy on the links every holiday and "hole day". There is no doubt now that the golf club will be a permanent institution here, though the links are not finally in shape yet. One local farmer has fixed up a course of his own on his farm, and with his friends is shaking the elusive put over his broad acres.

Prospects for a good skating and curling rink seem good for the forthcoming winter, and everyone should support the movement in the interests of good sport and recreation.

There is something closely approaching a housing famine in Strathmore at present. Much difficulty was experienced in getting rooms for the school, but they have all been placed, temporarily at least.

The three gentlemen who were demonstrating the straw gas plant here for the past two weeks have left town, and it is stated that they have succeeded in organizing a local company to handle the manufacture and sale of the appliances throughout this district. The idea seems a very good one, as there is largely wasted gas for heating, lighting, and power at a reasonable extra cost it will be a valuable adjunct to a farm home.

Mrs. Thomas E. Wright is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Morrison at their farm north of town.

Mrs. J. Thomson and family have returned from a visit to R.C.

School Fair Day September 21. The Women's Institute will serve lunch on the grounds. Bread and butter, hot water sandwiches, ice, cake, and coffee; cafeteria style, also ice cream. Proceeds go towards the Women's Institute Chair Fund for the Memorial Hall.

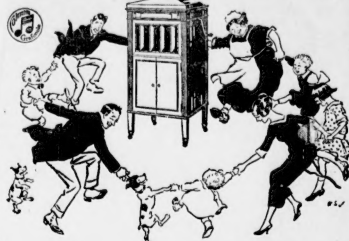

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. F. Thomas, Cheadle, on August 25th.

Dr. P. R. Edmunds, dentist, will be at the King Edward Hotel Monday and Tuesday of next week as usual, 21-23.

The Standard printshop has been remodelled during the past week, and a big improvement has been effected, giving better facilities for the housing of our up-to-date plant. In addition, the engine and generators have been set on concrete bases. The carpenter work was in the hands of Mr. M. S. Hirtle, and the concrete work was done by Mr. Alex Black.

Considerable has been heard lately of attracting banking institutions, etc., to Strathmore. The best way to bring new institutions to town is to support those who already are here. We have noted in the past week that a local man got some printing done from an outside firm, without any, far as we know, obtaining an estimate locally. Printing is essentially a manufacturing industry, and if he been through the local support of the people of the town and community that we have been able to build up the plant and newspaper we now have. A glitzy-splendid salesman sometimes takes an order out of town, but we hope not again. The Standard has gained successfully during the past year on considerable work from outside points in competition with big firms, as we expect to be compensated to handle the local business.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Val Buckle at Strathmore Hospital on Sunday, August 28. Messrs Miller and Clemens, of Rockford, are threshing a section of Red Lake wheat which is running between twenty-five and thirty bushels to the acre. They find the yield ten per cent. better than Marquis and seven to ten days earlier. The crop is about the best dry land one to be seen in the Rockford district.

C. W. OXLEY

A number of the local G.W.V.A. boys have been working for the past two weeks improving the stage at the Memorial Hall, and the result of their labors was evident in the well-extended workwood at the White. As noted in another column, the hall will have to be plastered, furnished, and furnace installed before winter if it is to be utilized and we trust the public will back the G.W.V.A. in getting the original road-made farm colony for the use and pleasure of all who live in the Strathmore district.

The Town Council have decided to enforce collection of the minimum school tax of $1.00. Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wright and family spent last week visiting their relatives at Halkirk, Alta. While there they met several old residents of this district, including Henry H. Grever, J. Langstrom, and Robt. Lawrie.

A big dance is being held in Nightingale on Friday evening of this week, with a four-piece professional orchestra. Nightingale is getting to be a go-ahead community, and more power to their elbow. The dance is going to be in the opinion of Nightingale people themselves, the best that has ever been held there. Mr. P. A. Cott is M.C. If you forget the public, the public will soon forget you. Strathmore, Alberta, September 7th 1921

ELECTIONS ARE NEAR

Premier Meighen has taken the plunge. He has stated that he will call for a General Election before the close of 1921.

Judging by the amount of popular clamour, the Government should have gone to the people a year ago anyway. The opinion is now expressed, however, that he should have waited until the census was completed, held a short session for redistribution, and then gone to the country. The coming election will be fought on the representation allowed by the 1911 census. This is decidedly unfair to the West, which has witnessed a great increase in population during that period.

The results of the Medicine Hat election are said by Premier Meighen to have influenced him to go to the country now. That this is so is a feather in the cap of the organised farmers, who won that election by an overwhelming majority.

There is very little doubt that the Farmers' Party, or as their proper designation is, the National Progressive Party, will gain many seats in the West. That is conceded. The constituency, however, in which the majority of our readers are located, that of East Calgary, is partly urban and partly rural, and it is likely that the present Government will make a very strong bid to hold it.

There is talk of an arrangement whereby the farmer will enter into a working partnership with the Labor Party, whereby the Farmers will have the labor support for their candidate in West Calgary, while the Labor Candidate in East Calgary will have the Farmer support. On the basis in which the Farmers are organised it is doubtful whether an arrangement of this kind can be authorised. It will have to have the sanction of the majority of the locals throughout the constituency. Since the riding was organised the rural section has had to be content with a member from Calgary. There are no basic industries in Calgary. The business that is done there is directly attributable to the producer on the farm. Should the tail wag the dog?

We believe that Calgary voters would take kindly to the idea of a Farmer candidate. Medicine Hat did, and Medicine Hat is more of a manufacturing city, in proportion to population, than Calgary is. The prosperity of the laboring man, of the storekeeper, of the business man in the towns and cities of Western Canada, depends on the farmer. Why should they not vote for the Farmers' nominee?

FINISH THE JOB

The Strathmore Memorial Hall is built but not completed. The exterior is completed, but to render the interior available for public use during the late fall and winter it will have to be plastered, furnace installed, and chairs furnished.

The plastering and furnace installation will have to be done within the next six weeks at least. After that time heavy frosts may be expected, and work will be more costly, and the results more uncertain.

Unless the money is forthcoming the building will stand idle this winter, which would be a great pity, with the amount of energy that has already gone into its construction, its value as an asset to the community, and its prestige as a memorial to our soldier dead.

The organising work and building has so far been done by the members of the Strathmore G.W.V.A., returned men themselves. They have given heavily of their time as well as their money, but they will require concerted public backing to finish the job.

Strathmore Women's Institute have volunteered to raise funds to provide chairs. If other public bodies or groups will undertake the other sections of the necessary work between the hall can be used this winter.

The G.W.V.A. are not falling down on the job, but they want the support, in work as well as in cash, of the community. Are they going to have it.

Calgary, Alta.—No member of the cabinet of Alberta's new government was born in Alberta, though three were in Canada. Three others came from England and two from Scotland. Mrs. Irene Parry, minister without portfolio, is the second woman in Canada to achieve cabinet distinction. Mrs. Ralph Smith, of Vancouver having preceded her by a few months. Practically every member of the cabinet is a practicing farmer, the premier himself working a section of land.

Tulsa, Alta.—Ninety-five dollars an acre was paid by a Saskatchewan man for an acre-section of land in the Tulsa irrigation district. This district first received water for irrigation this spring and some remarkably good crops are being harvested on irrigated lands this season. The purchaser considers he has made a very satisfactory bargain in getting this acre or section at the price named. A feature of the farm is a fine melon patch.

Edmonton, Alta.—About five hundred thousands of graded potatoes will be sent to outside markets from the surrounding country this season. The potato crop for the entire province is expected to be the largest of any province in the Dominion this year in proportion to acreage planted which is estimated at about 42,000 acres.

Calgary Rotarians to number of about 250 will visit Strathmore on Saturday, and have a duck supper at the Farm.

West Press: Very often we are tempted to ridicule the ancient and honorable game of golf. It looks so tedious. In plain fact the golfer is almost our only example of a grown man who really loves play and recreation. The majority of us pay to see games played or staged or engineered by a body of men hired for the purpose. The idea behind any game is that it is beneficial to the contestants, that it gives them ability and skill and strength. Most people know sport as something that touches the poet, gives one a reserved seat and the chance to shout and, perhaps, abuse the umpire or the players. Truly we love sport, but not as does the golfer.
